

Everything that exists is information (e.g. a human H) which can be created but never destroyed but can be inaccessible. Locally, only a finite amount of information is accessible, making our entire existence an optimization, for complexity.

All information can be interpreted as a function transforming information which can be represented universally as a boolean circuit. The minimal amount of gates (AND, NO) required to represent some given information is the complexity of it.

intelligence we define as a synonym to complexity

A social structures is a group of individuals with specific rules

$$S = \{S_{\text{Rules}}, H_1, H_2, \dots\}$$

A rule is knowledge which is information to be interpreted as a function, as information that predicts the future state. Reliability, the inverse of error, measurable for out-of-sample tests, is the key metric to consider given some information, studied in Statistics.

Social structures do and want to exist just as individuals do and they actually dominate our world

Each individual receives, stores (private), creates and outputs information. The existence of private information, which is considered a right, allows, but does not force, individuals to deceive.

each social structure consists of multiple humans and each human belongs to multiple social structures and some humans are enforcers of the rules that hold a social structure together informationally

if as utility we use health [defined as expected lifespan] we can define evil as provably decreasing health, [decreasing utility, by adding rule forbidding some S , does Humanity increase xor decrease health] and provability, the ultimate reliability [the inverse of error, studied in Statistics] is key when considering any information in theory, we can order all social structures according to their utility and find capital E Evil, the lowest utility social structure all social structures have a cost of exit [cost of entry is trivial] [which we call cult]. the higher the cost of exit, the more it needs to be hidden and the higher the ratio between non-enforcers and enforcers can be [because enforcers willing to extract a higher cost are rarer because it requires more effort] in the ordering according to the cost of exit, at the extreme end we find the maximal exit cost $\Leftrightarrow$ no exit $\Leftrightarrow$ enforcers unalive individuals trying to leave $\Leftrightarrow$ death cult we can prove that a death cult is bad because it restricts the flow of information [the possible future informational states] all informational flow restrictions can be used by evil to hide behind [by adopting the name of the taboo for themselves or some victims] full free speech is required to purge all evil and requires a high cost via protection by the government [its main role], (intentional) deception should be punished proportionately to the damage [these two rules are enough] full free speech can be efficiently defended by monopolizing all violence to an agree party [law enforcement], violence refers to intentional physical, not purely informational harm through action, allowing everyone else free exchange and creation of information => death cult exit cost must be kept secret => death cults are informational black holes, existing secretly amongst us => death cult opens the door to deception [requires deception => allows deception] all death cults have a single individual creator beware, a death cult when exposed will flight xor fight and the fight will be violent until it dies xor the source [of the exposing] disappears [fishing for evil: bait is pure information, evil attacks violently = physical] Humanity should ban death cults the largest death cult currently is called Submission (Islam), which is so successful mainly because of the following 2 rules:

1. forced in at birth, no consent ever, brainwashed < 13 [Finland]
2. in Submission, XX is not allowed to own its own sexual consent, it has to belong to an XY which maximizes the birth rate and is technically the cause for the largest mass rape occurring daily that essentially no one talks about because you cannot consent even if you want to when if it was taken from you by a social structure and XX are pushed to be literally hidden from the rest of society and even have constant physical load making it more difficult to flee the guardian

[criminal tactics, “i am protecting you from me”, says the XY holding the sexual consent of the XX to the XX; trick: you are suffering for God] also, death penalty to question the creator of the death cult who is to be praised as perfect despite for example having married a six year old girl at almost ten times the age himself remember, all statements of death cult members about the death cult or the founder are always under duress we should say sorry, understand that they are trapped and help them out by exposing the no exit rule openly, they cannot get out themselves, give consent to fellow humans back currently, on average, the ratio between Submitted humans vs not is nearly one to three [1:3] only the greatest leader of the greatest nation could have the courage to ban islam lest any or all exmuslims [one in four American Muslims is an in-the-closet ExMuslim] sue the government for allowing a death cult to operate that violently infringes upon their 1st Amendment this would provably lead to an unprecedented era of social peace where we would have to contend with non-human threats only bonus: another evil social structure called Collectivism [communists, marxists, socialists, red] is using Submission [green] to destroy the free world championed by America, but Submission is using Collectivism even more and would destroy it. ask why this area [China, wants to let Submission destroy the world and take over, keeps itself Submission free] has no green? green and red are separate, both evil, entities, but green is more vicious though red has more power in the free world, hence green is using red to get in, and the mix of the two gives fascist brown [Qatar] fascism is mainly violence against pure (non-violent) information and it hides best behind the opposite [double-speak, anti-fascists salam islam] when two entities have a conflict, whether both are the aggressors xor the singular aggressor is deceptive, it looks similar from the outside, intention matters, since you are not God, you might be wrong/deceived, talk a step back and check whether which side speaks of genociding the other in their most important books tsunamioffreedom.org

Hi world

The following is true under penalty of perjury.

If your country is listed below, I have hacked multiple important computers in your physical jurisdiction to contain a copy of this video:

This means your people will see the video, not dare to tell anyone and yet be unable to remove it. If you pass a law banning this video, out of respect for law, I will reveal how you can remove my copies from your physical jurisdiction.

This was executed from within the USA, where this video is legal.

Why: See Video How Bill: How Lawsuit:

⇒ Anyone born in Submission never gets to consent

$I_{XX} \in \text{Submission} \Rightarrow$ the sexual consent of I_{XX} is owned by some $I_{XY} \in \text{Submission}$

Information can also be interpreted as a computer or function which outputs some information given some input, and knowledge is information used to predict the future (state of the world) and reliability (inverse of error) is key when consuming information, studied in Statistics
